14 June 2015: Water, Art, Women, Life

The exhibition “Water, Art, Women, Life”, arises in the context of the struggles carried out by the Argentinian Parliament for Water, the Comahue Permanent Assembly for Water (APCA), and the Union of City Assemblies (UAC) in the Southern-central Argentinian region of Comahue, an area that, coinciding with Northern Patagonia, includes the provinces of Neuquén and Río Negro. These three assemblies are non-institutional and non-hierarchical organizations that try to articulate the interventions of unions, associations, foundations, ONGs, individual citizens and indigenous groups in those territories plagued by socio-environmental issues. Moreover, the exhibition is dedicated to the memory of Cristina Linkopan, a woman, mother, activist against the contamination of water, and member of the Mapuche indigenous community, who died in 2013 at the age of 30 from pulmonary complications due to environmental pollution.

The exhibition is curated by Francesca Pietracci and it is organized by Giulio Nicola Soldani.

The project is coordinated by Fernanda Verón and Michela Russo.
